In OPB’s nearly 100-year history, there hasn’t been a year quite like this. 2020 has been unprecedented in many ways—from a global pandemic and economic recession to devastating wildfires in our region, widespread calls for racial justice across the nation, and a deeply divided public.

Through all these challenging events, OPB has remained focused on providing everyone throughout our region with trusted, reliable news and information. While we—like you—have had to adapt in new ways this year, our commitment to delivering the essential reporting and engaging programs you rely on is as strong as ever.

Our public service has also never been more critical.

This year, you’ve relied on OPB for a closer look at how the COVID-19 pandemic has deeply affected communities around the Northwest. You’ve had access to comprehensive election coverage to help you make sense of the important issues. You’ve also heard a variety of voices telling the authentic and diverse stories of our region—those of hope, resiliency and community. And when you needed it, you’ve found a refuge away from the news with programs that uplift and entertain.

All of this work is possible because of the support of our members. It’s possible because of you.

As you plan your year-end giving, use the pink envelope included in this guide or go to opb.org/actnow to switch to a Sustaining membership or make a special year-end gift today. Your generous contribution will help keep OPB fully empowered to deliver the information, ideas and insights you will count on in the year ahead.

We hope you stay safe and healthy, and we look forward to serving you in 2021.

Steven M. Bass
President and CEO

COMING IN EARLY 2021

Independent Lens Women in Blue. Follow female officers from different ranks as they reimagine their profession. With a city already on edge over police misconduct, the women of the Minneapolis Police Department fight for gender equity, convinced that it’s one key to reducing police violence.

Masterpiece Miss Scarlet & The Duke. When her father dies, headstrong Eliza Scarlet resolves to continue his private detective agency. Her efforts soon lead her to Scotland Yard’s Detective Inspector William Wellington, a notorious scoundrel known simply as ‘The Duke.’

Oregon Field Guide Join the Field Guide team as they explore the world of Oregon jellyfish, get up close with colonies of puffins, go hydrofoiling on the Columbia River, visit tribal lands restored to the Clatsop-Nehalem people, and hear how the farmers of Mudbone Grown are connecting Black Oregonians with the land.

NOVA The Secrets in Our DNA. Learn what actually happens to our DNA when it lands in the hands of genealogy research companies.

American Masters How It Feels To Be Free. Uncover the inspiring stories of six iconic African American female artists—Lena Horne, Abbey Lincoln, Nina Simone, Diahann Carroll, Cicely Tyson and Pam Grier—who challenged the entertainment industry and transformed themselves and their audiences in the process.

Fast Forward Follow millennials and their parents as they try on an ‘aging empathy suit’ that simulates what it feels like to be 85 years old.

Hemingway In April, a new documentary series by Ken Burns and Lynn Novick examines the visionary work and turbulent life of Ernest Hemingway, one of the greatest and most influential writers America has ever produced.

Oregon Art Beat Discover what’s happening in the world of Northwest art with a fresh line-up of stories from Art Beat. Multimedia artist Willie Little’s work (pictured above) is informed by a childhood spent in the rural South. Software engineer-turned-painter Bhavani Krishnan captures Oregon’s beauty en plein air. And though you may not know it, you’ve seen the work of Nick Lee—just visit a McMenamins!

Nature Pumas. Travel to the mountains of Chile to discover the secrets of the puma, the area’s biggest and most elusive predator.
